

Have your say...

Plans to develop Awel y Môr, sister project to Gwynt y Môr Offshore Wind Farm off the coast of North Wales, are progressing. The team invites you to explore our plans to date and welcomes your feedback at this early project stage.

This informal consultation will largely take place in a virtual online manner and will be live on the project website between 3 - 30 November 2020 here: www.awelymor.cymru

You can also get in touch via email: awelymor@rwe.com and telephone 0800 197 8232 (during office hours); or instant message the team directly online via the virtual consultation platform on Friday (10am- 6pm) and Saturday (10am – 1pm), 13-14 and 27 – 28 November.

The consultation will introduce the project and seek feedback on our proposed:

- Onshore infrastructure
 - landfall locations (where the offshore cables meet the land)
 - onshore cable routes
 - onshore substation locations
- Offshore infrastructure
- All other project considerations

As one of the cleanest forms of energy generation, offshore wind projects like Awel y Môr have a key role in reducing carbon emissions, creating job opportunities and helping Wales meet its renewable energy targets. For more information, please contact us at: awelymor@rwe.com
